

RSS Oral History Project Videographer

Ivy Brashear is a graduate student in the Department of Community and Leadership Development at the University of Kentucky, where the focus of her studies revolves around Appalachia. She is the graduate assistant at the Institute for Rural Journalism and Community Issues, where she maintains The Rural Blog and writes original news articles. She received her Bachelor's degree in Journalism with a minor in Appalachian Studies from Eastern Kentucky University in 2009, and was a reporter at the Hazard Herald in Perry County, Ky. before returning to school.

In the summer of 2011, she participated as a filmmaker for the East Kentucky Reproductive Health Project through the Appalachian Media Institute at Appalshop in Whitesburg, Ky. She has been a board member for the Mountain Association for Community and Economic Development since summer 2011, and is a former board member of the Kentucky Riverkeeper.

